

Founder, Energy Related Enterprise

Also known as: Entrepreneur, Businessman, Enterpriser, Industrialist

Founders of energy related enterprises can start a wide variety of businesses in the energy industry. They typically have experience in the field and an idea to research or produce. Entrepreneurial ventures in this field can include: research into new technology, high tech manufacturing, support services to the energy industry, or consulting services. The career path for a Founder can vary greatly from person to person based on experience, connections, partners, and funding (whether self-funded or with investors).

Pay Scale	Education	Jobs Available
Varies	Varies	No Data Available

Career Path

(The career path to becoming a founder of energy related enterprise varies for every person. Some begin their careers as software designers or nuclear engineers for example, while others have experience as investors and CEOs prior to founding their own company.)

Training & Requirements

Training	Required Skills	Responsibilities
For a founder of energy related enterprises, there are no specific training requirements. However, successful entrepreneurs will typically have skills and abilities in a variety of areas. There are also 2- and 4-year business programs within the college system that focus on entrepreneurship.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Innovation • Project management • Marketing • Sales • Accounting 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Create a business plan • Hire labor • Acquire resources and funding • Provide leadership and management for the business

Additional Information:	Related Careers:
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • College Programs • Apprenticeships • Printable PDF 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • CEO (O*NET) • Electrical Engineer • Energy Engineer • Mechanical Engineer • Nuclear Engineer